Put together your own curious collection of fabulous British holiday ales each with unique novelty labels for the beer lovers on your list. These beers are Very Limited and sold out last year long before the holiday so come in early and select from:

Santa's Butt Winter Porter

This luscious holiday porter from England is a splendid, satisfying Winter Porter rich and warming, the way they like it in the North Pole. It was inspired by this famous line from a well-loved children's story book: "And Santa sat on his great butt, drinking a hearty brew." We hasten to point out that in England 'butt' refers to a certain barrel used in brewing — a very large barrel, in fact, holding 108 imperial gallons. Everyone wants a piece of Santa's Butt. $4.99 500ml bottle

Lump Of Coal Dark Holiday Stout

Looking forward to a depressing holiday? Here is liquid consolation. This 8% bittersweet chocolate stout is the best you could hope for in these dark times. Come to think of it, considering how bad you've been this year, this little coal-black gem is more than you deserve for Christmas. $5.99 500ml bottle

Rudolph's Revenge Winter Ale

One Christmas, Rudolph led Santa's sleigh to the tiny village of Cropton where this dark bitter with a unique hoppy taste and a fruity aftertaste has been made since 1613. Even if the beer weren't good, everyone would buy this one just for the cute little reindeer label. Care to join in any reindeer games? $5.99 500ml bottle

Bad Elf Winters Ale

Olde England meets the New World in this strong, warming golden ale. This year, just for the sake of change, it's a different brew, and even better. Look for something a little less hoppy, a little more malty, and a little more festive this time around. This Elf is so bad, it's way good. $4.99 500ml bottle

Very Bad Elf

It seems like every year these Elves just get worse and worse. This Very Bad Elf is stronger and darker than its predecessor. Based on an original recipe from 1795, Very Bad Elf has nutty and sweet-roasted flavors attributable to its use of an ancient pale malt, uniquely recreated for this delightful ale. $5.99 500ml bottle.

Seriously Bad Elf

This is a rather serious English double ale, a very English interpretation of a Belgian Tripel, brewed to warming 9% alcohol. But watch out, it was banned in Connecticut. $5.99 500ml bottle

Criminally Bad Elf

It turned out to be a case of mistaken identity, but Santa was soon on the street with polite apologies to the authorities. His elf was going crazy and he feared he soon would be too! Santa strained to remember just how he got into this line of work with this - a bottle of his favorite barleywine style ale. $6.99 500ml bottle

Warm Welcome Nut Brown Ale

Warm Welcome is a delicious, warming brown ale with attitude! A classic Brown ale, it's a little hoppier than your average Brown, and with a little extra malty sweetness. A Nut Brownworthy of the holidays, for sure. Though it contains no nuts or spices, Warm Welcome is the perfect holiday treat for the beer lover in your family. Also banned in Connecticut, ask us why. $4.99 500ml bottle.
